I would like to express my displeasure at Microsoft for trying to get out of their due punishment for unsavoury business practices. They have already been convicted for anti trust violations....now I think they should have to pay for their crimes. Please restore my faith in the US Justice Department and do not let them buy their way out of this one. Free software is not enough to restore their integrity and our (as the consumers) confidence in their integrity.
Thank you.

Sincerely
